The Northern Ireland

Jimmy's agony started in April when he missed the last five games

NOT BEEN GIVEN A CHANCE'

says Jimmy Nicholl

Worse was to follow when manager Dave Sexton was sacked and replaced by Ron Atkinson in the close season.

Ron almost immediately struck a deal with Everton which took midfield star Mike Thomas to Goodison Park in exchange for former England international John Gidman and placed a big question mark over Jimmy's future with United.

"I would not have minded if the manager had bought someone after a couple of months, but I don't feel he gave me a chance.

"With the team doing so well at the moment I can't see myself getting back into the side. It's all very disappointing.

"The manager has told me that he doesn't fancy me as a right-back and that he prefers me in the centre of defence. But with an injury to Gordon McQueen this season he's had enough chance to play me there and hasn't.

"The only way I can hope to get back in the side is if someone gets injured and I wouldn't wish that on anyone," said Jimmy, who has made 196 League appearances for

'It can be a cruel game . . . I never thought I'd have to leave United . . . I love the place'

United.

"It can be a cruel game. One minute you're up and everything is going fine. The next you're down and out of favour.

"Funnily enough I thought I had my best ever season with United last term and then this happens.

"If no other clubs take an interest in me by the time Northern Ireland play their World Cup match against Israel I'll go to America."

Jimmy looked set to join Brighton in the close season with Ashley Grimes but the deal fell through. Since then he's heard nothing.

"It's a funny situation. The manager won't put me on the transfer list, so not many people know what the situation is between United and me," added Jimmy.

"I never thought I'd have to leave

United. You see players come and go throughout your career but I never considered myself a mover.

"I've been a professional at United for eight years. They've been my only club and I love the place," said 24-year-old Jimmy, who picked up an FA Cup winners medal with United under Tommy Docherty in 1977.

Question marks have even been raised over the futures of favourites Steve Coppell and Sammy McIlroy following the big money buys of Bryan Robson, Remi Moses and Frank Stapleton.

But Jimmy is the only one of those to find himself languishing in the United reserves side and it's not a place he likes to be.

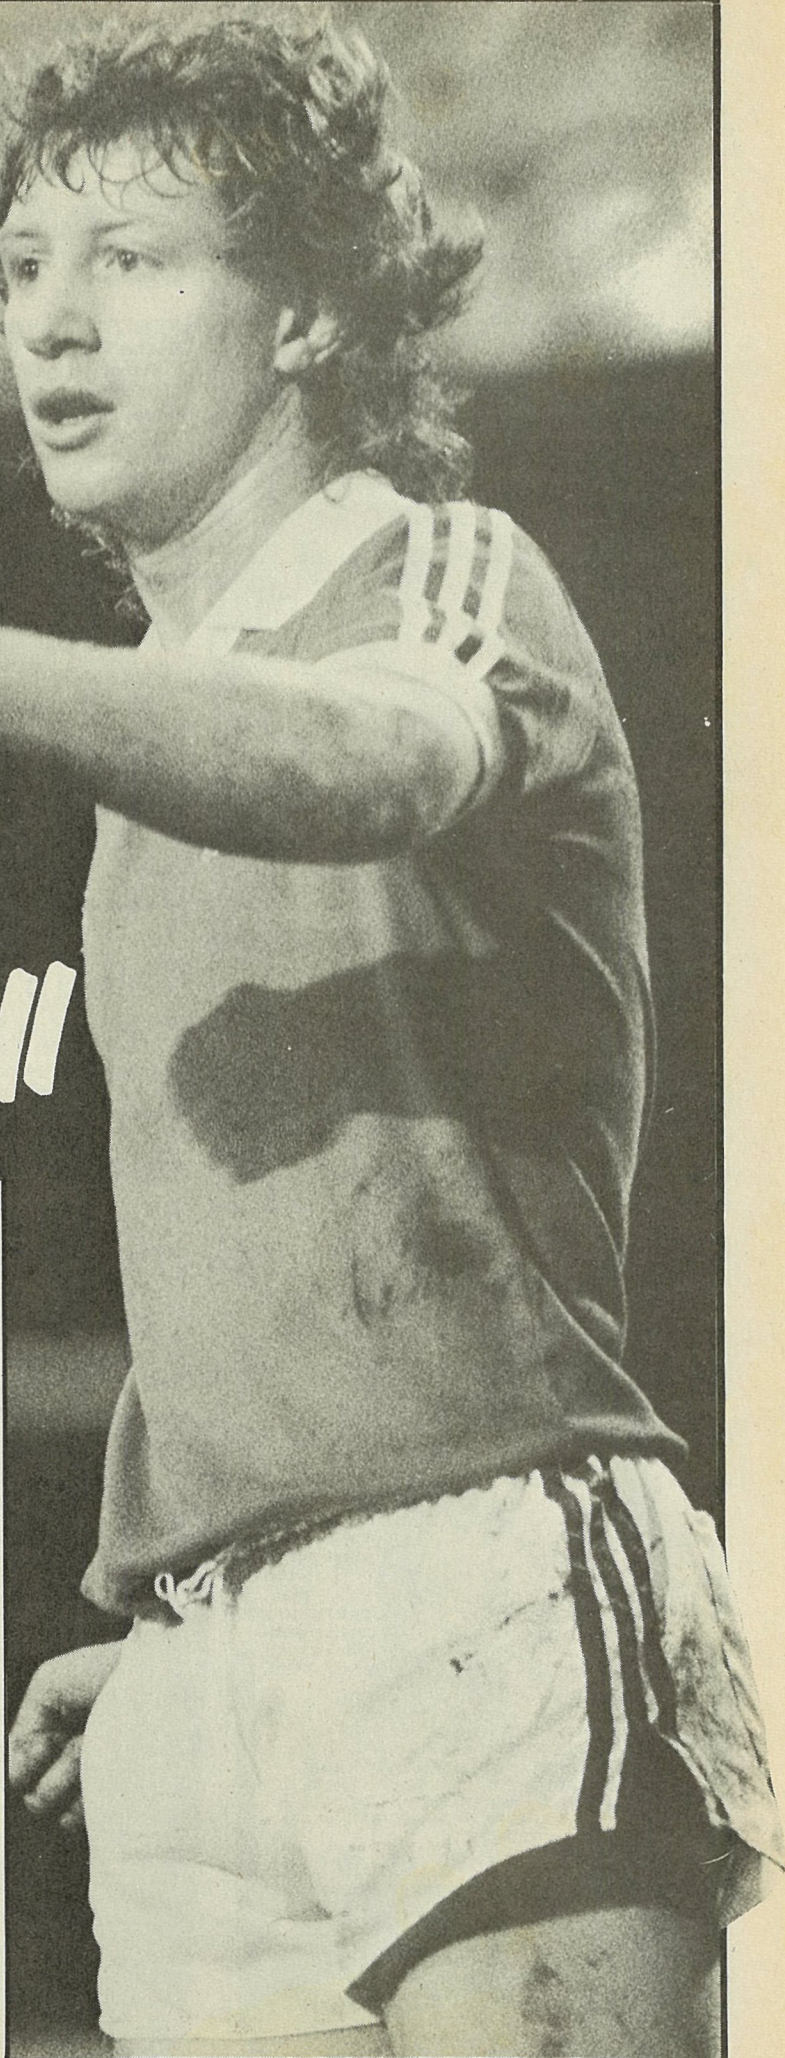

"I miss the build up, the crowd, the atmosphere and the action of first team football.

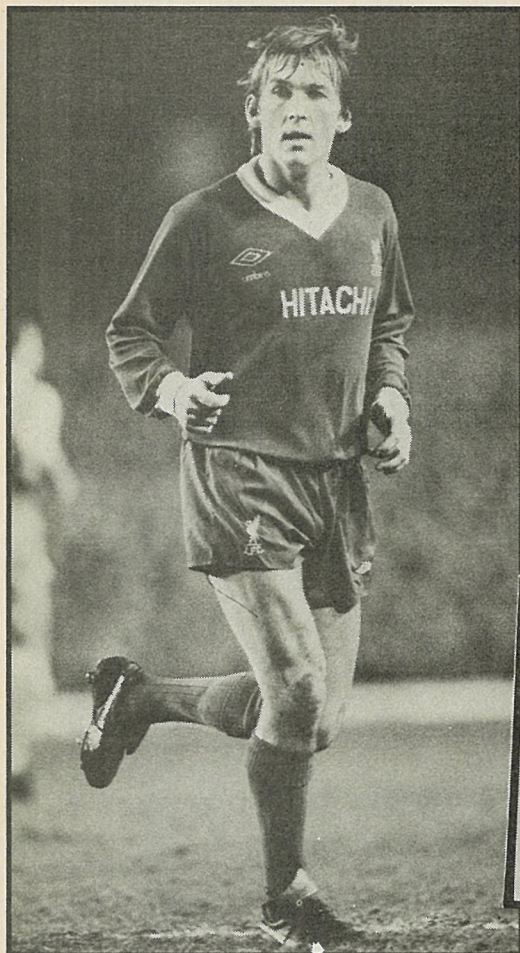

"It's harder playing in the reserves than the first team because you've still got to give your best even though there's no atmosphere.

"You've got to go out with the right attitude because you don't know who's up in the stands watching you," added Jimmy, who's contract with United finishes at the end of the season.

"That's why my involvement with my country has been such a bonus for me. It's shot me back into the limelight.

"It will be a bonus if anything happens at Old Trafford now," he added without a glimmer of hope in his voice.

Kenny Dalglish broke his year-long First Division goal famine at Brighton.

At last Kenny!

KENNY Dalglish's incredible goal famine in the First Division is over.

After 25 games without a goal, Liverpool's Scottish ace headed the opening goal in the 3-3 draw at Brighton.

It was almost a year since he scored his last League goals in the 2-1 home defeat of eventual champions Aston Villa at Anfield last November.

Meade to measure

WHAT a debut for Arsenal's teenage black striker Raphael Meade.

He was given his first full League match against Manchester City and duly produced the winner late in the second half.

It followed up his goal against Panathiniakos in Greece when he came on as a second half substitute in the 2-0 UEFA Cup win for his first taste of European soccer.

Ton-up Tony

FREE scoring Tony Kellow chalked up his 100th League goal when he scored the second of his two goals in Exeter's exciting 4-3 home defeat of Tommy Docherty's Preston.

Beaten at last!

THE last unbeaten record in the Football League went with Second Division Oldham's 3-1 defeat at Charlton on October 20.

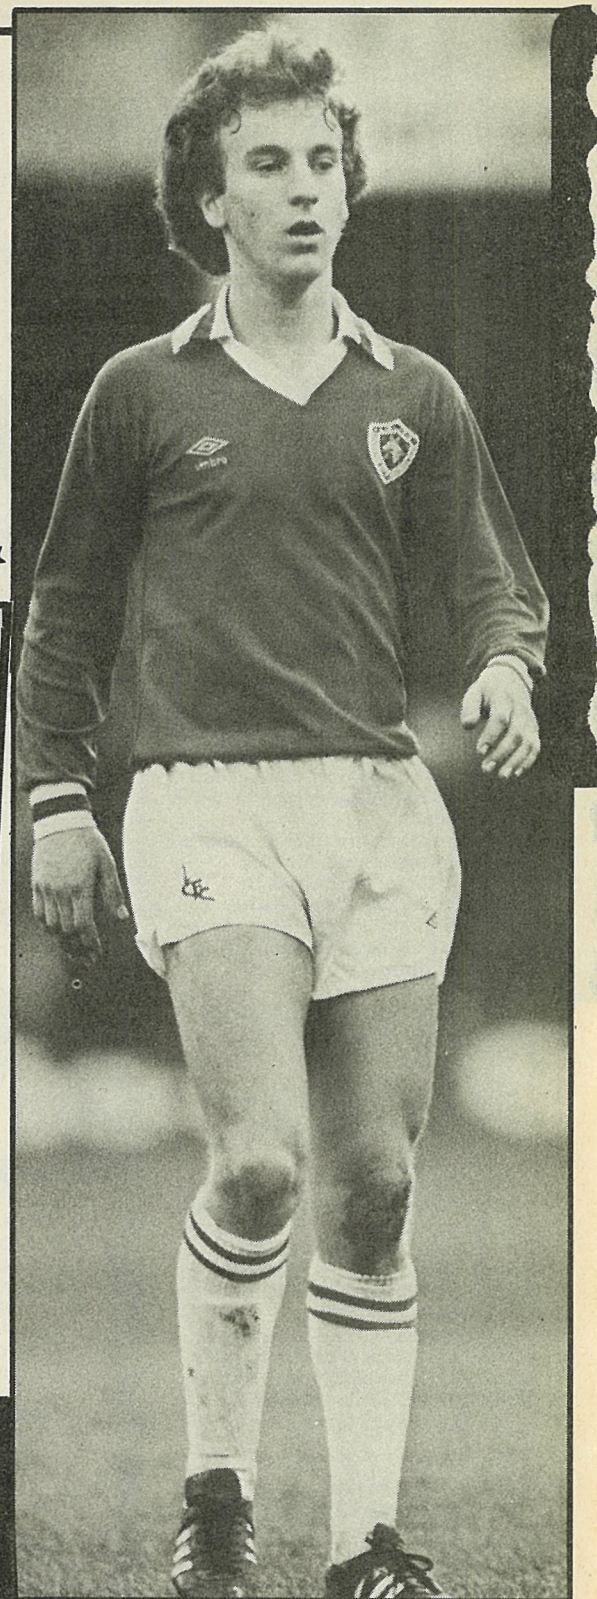

It was Oldham's tenth game of the season and they were destroyed by two goals in a minute just after the start of the second half — one from Billy Lansdowne and the other a Paul Futcher own goal.

'Swans' can stay the pace

SWANSEA City are capable of completing a meteoric rise from the Fourth Division to the First Division championship in five years, according to the manager of one of the sides who have fallen victim of John Toshack's high-flying Swans.

Stoke's Richie Barker said: "Everybody waits for a team which has just come up to the First Division and which is doing well to blow up."

"But Swansea have obviously got lots of talent and confidence in their side, reflected by the number of internationals they have. "Nottingham Forest did not blow up when they were in a similar situation four years ago and there is no reason to believe Swansea's start is a flash in the pan."

In the firing line

TWO Ipswich players will be firing penalties at young goalkeepers in the grand finals of the 'MATCH WEEKLY Penalty Competition' on Friday (Nov. 6).

The competition to find the champion penalty saver forms part of the opening of the new Anglia International Sports Centre at Ipswich by the First Division club's goalkeeper Paul Cooper.

The finalists have emerged from the courses held during the year by Paul at the National Goalkeeper Centre.

The Centre will now have its permanent headquarters at Westerfield House which will be run by Paul Cooper and Kit Carson under the name of Sobinberry Ltd.

Peake comes home a better player

ANDY Peake, Leicester's young midfield player, believes he has returned from the World Youth Cup finals in Australia a better player.

Andy, the most experienced player in the England team which reached the semi-finals, says: "It's not every day you get the opportunity to play against South American players."

"I feel I have learned different things from playing against the Argentinians and watching other Continental teams and England manager John Cartwright is a brilliant coach."

Left: Leicester's Andy Peake believes he's a better player after the England youth trip.

"So I feel I have come back a much better and experienced player and I hope I can show that to the Leicester fans."

England's makeshift squad — several regular players were not released by their clubs — exceeded expectations in reaching the semi-finals.

But as Andy points out: "Having reached the last four we were disappointed with our performance against Qatar."

"We had enough chances to have won the match, but if we had been told beforehand that we would qualify for the semi-finals I suppose we would have accepted that."

England eventually finished fourth, losing 1-0 to Rumania in the third and fourth place play-off, while Qatar went on to lose to West Germany in the final.

SUPER COOPER!

IF Ipswich goalkepr Paul Cooper (above) had been Dutch he would now be the proud possessor of around fifty Holland caps.

That's the view of his team mate Arnold Muhren who has been recalled to the Holland World Cup team this season.

Says Arnold: "He would certainly be an international if he had not been born in England."

Paul, signed from Birmingham eight years ago for £20,000, said: "I have been asked if I have any relatives who would qualify me to play for Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland, but my family is English through and through!"

Andy's still a Villa stranger

ANDY Blair has been with League Champions Aston Villa since the beginning of the season, but he admits that he is still something of a stranger in the camp at Villa Park.

The former Coventry midfield player explains: "The side has played so well together that they have this perfect understanding."

"Without them realising it, I have found myself cut out of certain moves on the field because they play with instinct."

"It is difficult breaking into such a system and this will only be achieved by becoming completely familiar with the style of play of everyone in the side and in the process being accepted as a member of the team."

Gould takes over at Rovers

BOBBY Gould, the much-travelled striker who began the season as a player with Third Division Wimbledon, has taken over as manager of Bristol Rovers.

Bobby, who was player-coach with Rovers in 1978-79, has taken over from former England full-back Terry Cooper who was sacked following the 4-1 home defeat by Swindon.

The former Chelsea assistant manager had recently taken over duties as the number two at Aldershot.

Oh brother!

ANOTHER Fashanu has hit the League scene.

John Fashanu, 19-year-old brother of Nottingham Forest's £1 million striker Justin, came on as substitute for Norwich recently.

His chance came in the 59th minute against Shrewsbury at Carrow Road and he almost popped up with a goal before Peter Mendham grabbed a late winner.

Knighton's back

KEN Knighton, sacked by Sunderland at the end of last season, is back in business.

He has signed a four-year contract with Orient who are struggling at the bottom of the Second Division.

He replaces Paul Went who resigned after just 21 days in the job and five

Cardiff cheer the fans

CARDIFF fans have at last had something to cheer about at Ninian Park.

Their 2-1 defeat of fellow Second Division strugglers Bolton was their first home victory since February when they defeated Newcastle 1-0.

UNDER 21'S CRUNCH...

ON the eve of England's crucial World Cup clash with Hungary at Wembley, the Under-21's could clinch a place in the quarter-finals of the European Under-21 Championship.

England's youngsters, currently top of their group, need just a draw against second-placed Hungary at Nottingham Forest on Tuesday, November 17, to reach the last eight.

Hungary boosted their hopes with a crushing 5-1 defeat of Switzerland in Budapest.

successive defeats.

Orient ended their bleak run with a 1-1 home draw with London rivals Queens Park Rangers to give Ken a satisfactory start.

And Tommy Cunningham's goal against his old club was Orient's first in eight matches.

Out of the

AFTER scoring ten goals in the opening ten games of the 1971-72 season with Rochdale, I was called into the manager's office one day and told: "You're going to Norwich for a club record £45,000".

I wasn't actually asked whether I wanted to go because I knew I really had no choice.

If you play at Rochdale all your life you're not going to make any money and five per cent of the transfer fee was the only thing I thought about at the time.

That was going to net me around £2,000 which was a lot of money for a 19-year-old. I felt like a millionaire.

It was a similar story when I first met Norwich manager Ron Saunders. He simply told me what I would be getting and I just signed — even though they didn't even double my Rochdale wages.

There had been a lot of talk in the papers about Liverpool, West Brom and Manchester City being interested in me and it had all been very exciting.

When I was summoned to manager Dick Conner's office I assumed that I was on the move and became very nervous.

My mate, Bobby Downes, was having treatment at the time and he asked me where I thought I would be going.

"There's been talk about West Brom and Manchester City," I told him. "City would be ideal because I wouldn't have to move, but with Lee, Summerbee and Bell around I can't see me getting into the team.

"You never know, it might be some out of the blue team like Norwich."

Bobby replied: "Have you heard something, because that's where you're going. I sneaked into the manager's office a few minutes ago and I saw the transfer form on his desk."

So I was off to Norwich to start what turned out to be two great years.

Debut

Norwich were leading the Second Division at the time and I made my debut in the 1-1 draw at Sunderland alongside Peter Sylvester.

I was a bit naive at the time and I couldn't understand why such a big fuss was being made in the local papers about my transfer.

I later discovered that I was the striker Ron

WEST Ham striker DAVID CROSS continues his fascinating life story — exclusive to Match!
This week David picks up the story with his transfer to Norwich. He talk about life at Carrow Road . . . and the cup final that went wrong.

ALTHOUGH I have nothing but the greatest respect for Ron Saunders,
I believe he made a costly error before my first Wembley Cup Final in 1973.

I think he would also admit that he was wrong to take the Norwich side to a London hotel 48 hours before the clash with Tottenham which proved such a big disappointment.

With nothing to do in the hotel, we spent most of the day in tracksuits and by the time
Saturday arrived we had played the game five times over.

As a result we were totally drained by kick-off time and we failed to play to our full potential, losing the final 1-0.

Mind you, I don't think the Norwich side at that time was hungry enough for success.

We had the attitude then of 'let's get the game over with' because it was such a big occasion and we were not looking forward to actually playing.

I remember seeing my family in the hotel afterwards with their chins on the floor because they were so disappointed with the result.

I told them: "Don't look so disappointed. I've played at Wembley today."

We were more concerned about the sense of occasion than the result and to be quite honest we were not that bothered that we had lost.

We didn't play as well as we blue to Norwich

... and I felt like a millionaire

Saunders had promised the fans at the start of the season.

He had told them that if he signed the striker he wanted then Norwich would be promoted.

So I had walked into a club where the fans were expecting me to get promotion for them after just a handful of League matches with Rochdale.

Fortunately they took to me at Carrow Road and we carried on winning.

It was a good side for me to join because most of the players, like Graham Paddon and Doug Livermore, were all trying to establish themselves.

That suited me because at least I wasn't going into a team of big names with the danger of being overawed.

Success covers a multitude of sins. If we hadn't been promoted that season then the fans might well have pointed an accusing finger at me because I scored only eight League goals.

The Norwich side was very comparable to West Ham last season in the way they took the Second Division apart.

We had a dodgy spell for about a month when Duncan Forbes and Peter Sylvester were injured and were caught by Millwall, but we clinched the title in the end to give Norwich fans First Division football for the first time.

We started First Division life very reasonably and around Christmas we were in the top six.

But as teams found holes in our storming style we went through a spell of 19 games without a win to look relegation candidates.

But we produced an Houdini-type escape by winning three of our last four matches to stay up by just two points and I finished top scorer with 11 goals.

A very different looking David Cross is pictured in his Norwich days where he collected his first domestic honour with a Second Division championship medal in 1971-72 and a League Cup Final losers' medal a year later.

SAUNDER'S CUP FINAL MISTAKE

We were drained by kick-off time could, but we had given our best. On the day it wasn't good enough, but Ron Saunders was proud that we had taken Norwich to Wembley for the first time.

Of course it would have been better to have won. I've been to Wembley since with West Ham and won and I know which is the best feeling, but I still look back on that first Wembley visit with special fondness.

It was a really poor game because Tottenham didn't play that well either.

The winning goal came late on from substitute Ralph Coates and I remember it was my headed clearance that led to it.

I went back to cover Mike England as Martin Chivers wound up for one of his long throws.

Alan Gilzean flicked the ball on and I managed to get in front of Mike to head the ball out.

However, it fell straight to the feet of Coates on the edge of the area and he drove it home.

We had a bit of a scare before we finally made it to Wembley.

After beating Chelsea 2-0 at Stamford Bridge in the first leg of the semi-final, we were leading 3-1 in the return with about ten minutes to go when fog suddenly blanketed the ground.

The game re-started after a short delay and Chelsea pulled another goal back, but it was so bad that referee Gordon Hill had to abandon the match.

You can imagine the scene in our dressing room. We were just a few minutes away from Wembley and being sung all the way there by our happy fans.

We were absolutely sick and wondered whether it was some kind of omen. Perhaps someone up there didn't want us to get to Wembley. But a fortnight later we finally clinched our place with a 1-0 victory.

To get Norwich into the First Division and to the League Cup Final in less than a year was a personal tribute to manager Ron Saunders.

I knew nothing of his reputation until I signed for Norwich, but it didn't take me long to find out.

He bullied me quite a bit, but he was great to me. He's a very hard man with a soft centre.

You see him now on television and players who don't know him say that they don't like the look of him and wouldn't want to play for him.

But, while he was great with me then, I don't think I could play for him again because his training methods are too hard.

We seemed to be training every day at Norwich, sometimes four hours at a time, and it was a long, hard two years for me at Carrow Road.

I've been at West Ham four years and it seems more like two months compared with my two-year spell at Norwich.

But Ron's success at Norwich fully justified his training methods, and he has proved over the years that he is one of the most successful managers in the country.

'Boot boy' shines Swansea

SWANSEA manager John Toshack went to Blackpool in the close season . . . to sign the man who used to clean his boots at Anfield!

But the former Liverpool and Wales striker didn't bring Max Thompson to Vetch Field for his ability to shine shoes.

Shrewd 'Tosh' wanted Max to resume his central defensive partnership with Colin Irwin and the move has paid off as Swansea have taken the First Division by storm.

The pair played together in the reserves at Liverpool in the days when John and Kevin Keegan were one of the most feared strike forces in Europe.

"I used to clean John's boots when I was an apprentice. He never paid me though," joked Max.

But John was prepared to splash out £40,000 to throw his old club-mate a dream First Division lifeline.

Max had resigned himself to his first ever season in the Fourth Division with relegated Blackpool before John came to the rescue.

"It was a great move for me and it's been made even better by Swansea's unbelievable start to the season," said Max, who made 99 League appearances for Blackpool.

Max thought his chances of a move to Swansea were non-existent following a chat with John Toshack after a pre-season friendly between the two clubs.

"I mentioned to John that I was at the end of my contract and looking for a move. He told me that there wasn't much chance of me joining him at Swansea.

"He was in middle of negotiations with Liverpool for the purchase of Colin Irwin and I think he felt he had enough defenders on his books," said Max.

"Then out of the blue Blackpool manager Allan Brown told me that a fee had been agreed and I could go. I just couldn't wait to sign," admitted the 24-year-old.

Max made his debut in Swansea's fourth League game of the season against Notts. County.

"I'm really enjoying myself. It took me a couple of games to get used to the First Division, but now I feel I'm completely settled.

"Our start hasn't really surprised me because there are so many good players here," said Max.

"People are waiting for us to blow up, but I don't think we will. John keeps our feet firmly on the ground."

When Max signed for Blackpool in the 1977-78 season they looked handily placed for promotion back into the First Division, but a disastrous second half of the season saw them plunge into the Third.

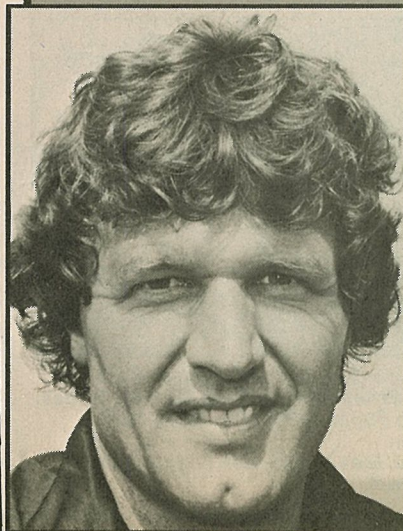

"We were placed fourth when they signed me as a right-back. But suddenly things went wrong and we never recovered.

"The biggest disappointment during my days at Blackpool was when Alan Ball went back to Southampton.

"I had wanted to stay at Bloomfield Road because I thought there was a future for the club. I thought he should have been given a proper chance.

"I've got mixed feelings about my spell at Blackpool. There were so many changes that it affected the players performances and as a consequence they find themselves in the Fourth Division for the first time in their history.

"But I'm sure they'll do well this season because they've got some good quality players at the club," said Max, who has signed a year's contract with Swansea.

MATCH writer ANTHONY HAWKSWELL talks to Swansea star Max Thompson about his dramatic rise from the League basement to the top.

Max did make one First Division appearance before his move to Swansea. That was way back in May 1974, for Liverpool against Spurs at White Hart Lane.

Ironically he took John Toshack's place in the Liverpool line-up and played alongside Eire international Steve Heighway in a team that included current Swansea coach Phil Boersma.

"It was a couple of days after Liverpool had beaten Newcastle 3-0 in the FA Cup Final and manager Bill Shankly decided to rest John.

"I was surprised to get called up because striker Alan Waddle was the natural choice. But I enjoyed the game and we drew 0-0," added Max.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★ Fillol's lucky escape

PATO Fillol, Argentina's World Cup goalkeeper, had a lucky escape in Buenos Aires recently when he was involved in a head-on car crash.

The popular River Plate 'keeper suffered only slight injuries and was soon back in action, but his wife was admitted to hospital with head injuries.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★ 'Kiwis' spark riot

ANGRY fans rioted in Auckland after New Zealand's 2-1 home defeat by Kuwait in the Asia/Oceania play-offs.

After taking three points from China, the 'Kiwis' went down to two penalties, and, as a result, disgruntled fans hurled tin cans at the referee.

Since then China have taken over at the top on goal difference from New Zealand following their 3-0 defeat of Kuwait in Peking.

HUNGARY, England's opponents at Wembley in that World Cup crunch match later this month, could benefit from the tough coaching of an Englishman!

Goalkeeper Ferenc Meszaros, who plays in Portugal with Sporting Lisbon, is full of praise for coach Malcolm Allison who sought the sunshine after being sacked by Crystal Palace last season.

Says the Hungarian number one: "The training has been tough, but I have learned more in the past couple of months working with him than in the previous 18 years."

Meszaros showed his class when Sporting Lisbon, the Portuguese League leaders, won 4-2 at Southampton last month in the UEFA Cup Second Round, first leg clash.

Right: Malcolm Allison — he's coaching the Hungarian goalkeeper.

FALLEN HERO

WHAT a difference a year can make in the life of a footballer.

Remember Waldemar Victorino, the Uruguayan striker whose goal defeated Nottingham Forest in the World Club Championship clash in Japan earlier this year? Well, he's currently out of favour.

Now that Uruguay have been eliminated from the World Cup by Peru, the 29-year-old striker has been loaned from Nacional to Deportivo Cali in Colombia.

And that move is quite a different one from all the talk of a few months ago when it was expected that he would be involved in a big money move to Europe.

Whistle stop!

TWO of Spain's top referees, with high hopes of being involved in next year's World Cup Finals, have received a black mark.

The thumbs down for Franco Martinez and Emilio Guruceta comes from Spanish First Division players whose clubs are allowed to draw up a list of referees they don't want officiating at their games during the season.

And those two men, both with big international reputations, topped the unpopularity stakes.

The shoe that won't give your opponents the edge.

Introducing Europa Cup, a new soccer shoe developed by adidas to make the game safer as well as faster.

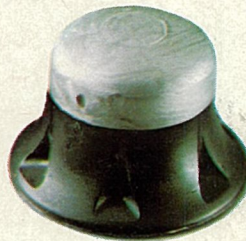

Leather uppers and a special lightweight sole mean Europa Cup is one of the lightest soccer shoes on the market.

Widely placed studs on a light, flexible polyamide sole give you a firm platform from which to run and kick.

A new kind of toe-box construction gives you great stability while allowing your foot very close contact with the ball.

Our unique new safety stud. Because it is made in two layers with the softer material on the tip, no dangerous sharp edges can be formed to cause cuts and tears.

THE MOST stupid thing I have heard this year — that's what I think to the criticism by FIFA of the way players celebrate after a goal.

I'm not ashamed to say that I still get a thrill out of scoring in training — never mind on a Saturday.

When I lose that feeling I'll know it's time for me to pack up.

Celebrating with your team-mates after a goal is a natural reaction. And FIFA's attitude to something so harmless is a sad comment not just on football but on life in general.

If that is the biggest thing wrong with the game then we have nothing to worry about.

From a personal point of view I have had lots to celebrate this season — with ten goals to my credit up to last Saturday.

I said in Match Weekly at the start of the season that this would be my best-ever season for goals.

My previous best League goals total was 13, set with Liverpool before I left to play in Hamburg, so I am well on schedule to beat that comfortably.

As an out-and-out striker this season I am really enjoying myself. I have got to score goals to justify my place but I don't mind that responsibility.

I have always considered myself as a goalscorer, though not a prolific one, and I have always spent lots of time practising my finishing in training.

I am not one of those players who crashes in goals from 25 and 30 yards. Most of my opportunities come close in and in training I Left: Swansea's Bob Latchford — likely to end up as top scorer in the First Division this season.

Right: Flashback to what Kevin Keegan said in his September 12 Match Weekly column.

I MUST

concentrate on sharpening up in and around the six-yard box.

In training at Southampton I pair off with fellow striker Steve Moran and the wingers and midfield men feed balls into the near and far post. Then defenders are brought in as well to create a more realistic situation.

We also get finishing practice in five-a-side, so quite a lot of time is spent on it each week.

That might surprise some people, but the higher level you play in the more important finishing becomes.

You don't get many chances during a game, and a lot of those that do arise are only half-chances. So you have got to be able to put a percentage of them away.

Many of the goals I score are from little knock-downs from team-mates or perhaps the ball will bobble away from a defender just long enough to give me a stab at it.

I am already convinced that this season will be my best ever for scoring goals in the First Division...

It's the first time I have played right up front like this and I am looking forward to the challenge.

SCORE TO JUSTIFY MY PLACE by Kevin Keegan

I may only have a split second so I've got to be alert both physically and mentally.

My fellow Match Weekly columnist David Cross, who is close behind me in the First Division scoring charts with nine goals for West Ham, is a different striker altogether.

The only thing we have in common is that we both play for sides that like to go forward — so we are always going to get chances.

Nevertheless, you have to be able to stick them in — and that's something Crossy is very good at. He has scored goals wherever he has been.

He will get goals that I won't. As a big man, he is ideal for the kind of long, high balls that Aston Villa knock in for Peter Withe.

A striker more of my own build is Ian Wallace at Nottingham Forest. The little Scot has benefitted from the departure of Trevor Francis from the City Ground.

With less competition for his place Ian has grown in confidence and had knocked in nine goals this season before Saturday.

The arrival of Justin Fashanu at Forest has also helped him. Fash is doing for Ian what John Toshack did for me at Liverpool — providing those valuable knock-downs and taking the big men away to give him more space.

Just because he is small doesn't mean Ian can't score with his head. Like me, he relies on pace to steal half a yard, often at the near post.

Stoke's Lee Chapman is another striker enjoying himself this season. He's hit nine goals already and I think he'll be around the top of the scoring charts for a lot of years.

I like him. He has a lot of skill for a big man. I heard somewhere that he has set himself a 40-goal target for this season.

That will take some doing, though Lee may be the sort of player to respond to the challenge and push himself hard to do it.

I have always been against setting targets. By doing so, you put pressure on yourself — and there is enough pressure already at this level.

Clive Allen, now back at QPR after his much-publicised moves to Arsenal and Crystal Palace, knows all about pressure.

I'm a big fan of his. I think he has an awful lot of ability. He hit 33 goals in a season at QPR before he was sold, when everything he hit seemed to go in. But now his luck has turned.

The shots that went in are hitting the woodwork or pulling great saves out of the 'keeper.

It has surprised a lot of people that Clive's old striking partner at QPR, Paul Goddard, has done the better of the two.

I think the difference is that Paul has played for a better team than Clive. He has also improved a lot since going to Upton Park.

His biggest strength is his ability to turn it on the ball. His stocky build gives him a low centre of gravity and he is very powerful.

Similar to him in build is Bob Latchford, who I am delighted to see enjoying a new lease of life at Swansea.

I always feel a bit sorry for 'Latch'. When he played for England people couldn't understand why myself and most of the other England players sang his praises.

It was what he did for other players during a game that made him popular with his teammates. And we always seemed to play well with him in the side.

After fading out of the limelight for a while, Bob is now likely to end up top scorer in the First Division this season.

The way Swansea are playing should provide him with plenty of chances and Bob seems to be in the right place at the right time all the time.

All the players I have mentioned so far are strikers... which makes Liverpool midfielder Terry McDermott the exception among the top half-dozen goalscorers in the First Division.

Terry is a better player than a lot of people give him credit for. He loves to volley the ball and scores some spectacular goals. But his fellow pros rate him because they realise how much work he puts in.

The punter only remembers those long, penetrating runs when he gets the ball. But he makes an awful lot of runs when he never sees the ball.

With Liverpool likely to enjoy long runs in both cups, I would back him to score 15 goals plus this season.

● Kevin Keegan was talking to Melvyn Bagnall.

WHO AM I?

I won two First Division Championship medals with a Midlands club in the seventies. Now turn to page 26 for the next clue.

WIN a super soccer holiday and be coached by one of the game's top stars.

That's the great prize on offer in another FREE to enter Match Weekly competition.

We're giving you a chance to enjoy a five-day course at any one of the PGL Soccer Holidays eight centres up and down the country.

All you have to do is decide, in order of merit, which of the qualities listed below are essential to become a super striker.

If you think vision is the most important asset, put that first and work your way down to the one you consider least necessary.

The first correct entry pulled out of our postbag (i.e. the first one that agrees with the decision of the Match Weekly panel of judges) will be invited to attend one of the PGL courses while the TEN runners-up will each receive a super autographed poster of Southampton midfield star Steve Williams.

The courses are open to youngsters between the ages of 8 and 18 and a typical week's tuition includes coaching on all the basic skills, plenty of matches, a visit to a League club and a question and answer session with a top player.

Internationals who helped with the PGL courses last year included Liverpool's Graeme Souness, West Ham's Trevor Brooking, Manchester United's Jimmy Nicholl and Dundee United's Paul Sturrock.

So get your thinking caps on and you can win in our easy-to-enter competition.

WIN 12 GREAT LIVERPOOL ANNUALS

IT'S prizes galore in this week's super Match Weekly.

We're giving away TWELVE official Liverpool 1982 annuals in another FREE, easy-to-enter competition.

The well-illustrated books, which cost £3.50 each, catalogue Liverpool's success last season which saw them lift the European Cup for the third time and collect the League Cup for the very first time in their proud history.

All you have to do is answer the ten Liverpool questions, write the answers on a postcard and the first twelve correct entries drawn out will receive the super books.

Send your entries to: 'Liverpool Quiz', Match Weekly, 14 Holkham Road, Orton Southgate, Peterborough PE2 0UF.

Entries must reach us by November 13 and the results will be announced in our November 28 issue.

The questions are:

- From which club did Liverpool sign goalkeeper Bruce Grobbelaar?
- At which club did Terry McDermott begin his League career?
- Who did Liverpool defeat in the semi-finals of the European Cup last season?
- Name the three cities in which Liverpool won their three European Cups.
- Who was Liverpool's top scorer last season in the First Division, excluding FA Cup and League Cup?
- Who scored Liverpool's goal in the League Cup Final clash with West Ham at Wembley last season?

- Who scored Liverpool's match winner against Bruges in 1978 when they retained the European Cup?
- Who scored Liverpool's penalty goal when they lifted the European Cup for the first time in 1977 against Borussia Mönchengladbach?
- Who defeated Liverpool in their only appearance in the European Cup Winners' Cup Final back in 1966?
- Liverpool last won the UEFA Cup in 1976. Who did they beat in the final?

LIVERPOOL v
MAN UNITED

Above: Liverpool goalkeeper Bruce Grobbelaar dives in vain as the ball hits the back of the net from the boot of Kevin Moran to give Manchester United the lead at Anfield . . .

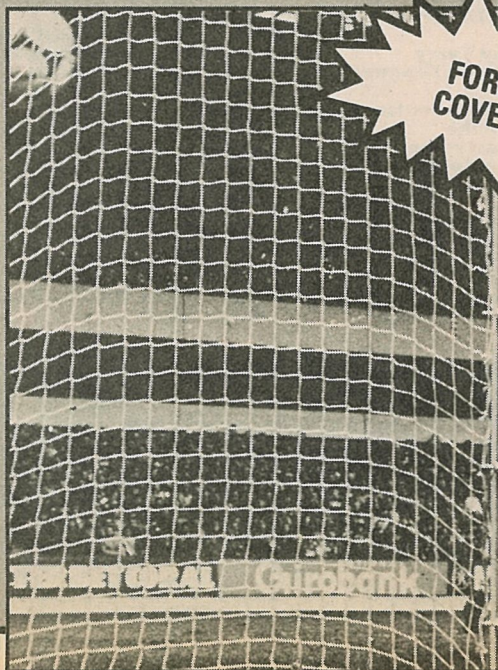

. . . but this time it's United 'keeper Gary Bailey who is on the receiving end as he is beaten by the Terry McDermott penalty which made the score 1-1. United had the last laugh however as Arthur Albiston — with only his second goal in the League — earned the visitors a 2-1 victory.

● Turn to page 31 to discover why Gary Bailey is currently the safest goalkeeper in Division One. And on page 38 Bruce Grobbelaar tells why he was sorry to see Ray Clemence leave Liverpool.

Right: Peter Shilton (bottom right corner) and his Forest team mates can only watch in horror as Coventry's Steve Hunt (11) side-foots the ball home to give his side the lead at the City Ground . . . but Forest hit back with two goals from re-vitalised striker Ian Wallace (8) — seen here wheeling away in delight as the ball flies into the net past stranded Coventry goalkeeper Jim Blyth — to score a 2-1 victory.

The right moves could take you to the 1982 World Cup in Spain!

Subbuteo's new 'Plot the Shot' World Cup Competition could take you on a once-in-a-lifetime trip for 2, to sunny Spain to see the quarter finals all the way through to the final of next years World Cup! The prize, organised by Sports World Travel includes air travel, 15 nights hotel accommodation and tickets for 8 matches plus the final.

Entry is open to everyone under 17, and is absolutely free, with no strings! All you have to do is use your knowledge of Subbuteo, the world's most popular table soccer game.

We have reconstructed an actual moment from the last World Cup with disguised Subbuteo players showing them in a skillful 3 man passing move leading to a superb goal.

In the diagram the players are lettered so you can put down your idea of the most likely move. For example if you think G passed to C who passed to A who scored the goal you simply write G-C-A in the space provided, and you could be on your way to the World Cup!

Further competition entries are available wherever Subbuteo is sold.

The closing date for receipt of entry is December 31st 1981.

THE policeman was pleading with a man not to jump from the top of a tall building:

"Think of your wife and kids. Think of your parents," he pleaded.

"I'm not married and my parents are dead. Life isn't worth living," came the reply.

"Life IS worth living," said the policeman.

"Liverpool are playing at home tomorrow."

"I don't care — I'm an Everton fan," said the man.

Shilton's the key to a Forest

success BEAT PAUL'S PREDICTIONS

TOP goalscorers Ian Wallace and David Cross clash head on at the City Ground on Saturday where Nottingham Forest entertain West Ham.

But the dangerous duo — both on nine goals after 11 matches this season — will need to be at their best to add to their impressive totals.

Goalkeepers Peter Shilton and Phil Parkes will see to that!

For Shilton it will be the last chance to impress on Ron Greenwood that he should be in goal for England when the Hungarians come to Wembley in ten days time.

Parkes meanwhile will be keen not to be outdone by his more illustrious counterpart.

Pictured left is Match reader Simon Goffen — my special guest opponent this week. Simon is a keen Liverpool fan and his favourite player is Terry McDermott.

But I'm taking the Forest pair to win the day — despite 'Hammers' fine away record this season.

Forest's cross-town rivals Notts County meanwhile travel North to face Leeds at Elland Road.

Leeds are enjoying something of an upsurge following a disastrous start and their unbeaten home record should remain intact on Saturday... even though County have not been the pushovers everyone predicted.

I've predicted scorelines for ten matches from up and down the country and the challenge is beat me if you can.

My special guest opponent this week is 13-year-old Simon Goffen of Sprowston, Norwich.

You can see his predictions alongside mine in the special panel.

Points are awarded according to how accurate the forecasts are and if Simon manages to score more points than me he wins £5.

If you would like the chance to compete against me in the magazine send in your name, age and address, telephone number and black and white photograph of yourself.

Write to Stratton on Saturday, Match Weekly, Stirling House, Bretton, Peterborough PE3 8DJ.

HERE are Paul Stratton's selected matches for this Saturday, together with those of his special guest opponent.

There's a space for you to fill in your forecasts and a column for the actual result.

Award yourself two points for every score you get right and one point if you get the result right (i.e. home win, away win, draw), but the scoreline wrong.

Carry your points total forward each week.

ENGLAND RECALL FOR HUGHES

IT was five years ago this week that Emlyn Hughes, currently managing Second Division Rotherham, was recalled to the England squad after 18 months in the wilderness.

The international future of the then Liverpool skipper looked in doubt after he was left out of the team following the goalless draw in Northern Ireland in May, 1975.

A variety of defenders, including Ian Gillard, Kevin Beattie and Mick Mills all filled the number three shirt in the 14 internationals before Emlyn's recall.

He returned to the squad for the match in Italy, when Leeds defender Paul Madeley withdrew because of injury.

And so Emlyn partnered Derby's Roy McFarland at the centre of the defence in Rome where England went down 2-0.

Madeley returned for the next match in Holland, but Emlyn was soon back to figure regularly in the squad until his final appearance in the 1-1 draw with Northern Ireland at Wembley on May 29, 1980.

Emlyn was capped 62 times during his ten-year reign as an international.

Nov. 8, 1976....

Nov. 11, 1976.....

NORWICH re-bought Graham Paddon from West Ham for £110,000.

Nov. 13, 1979.....

STAN Cummins left Middlesbrough for North East rivals Sunderland in a £300,000 move.

Greenhoff is new United idol

Nov. 12, 1977.....

FIVE years ago this week a new idol arrived at Old Trafford.

Just 12 months after the release of golden boy George Best, Tommy Docherty bought Jimmy Greenhoff from Stoke City for £200,000.

Jimmy, one of the best strikers never to be capped by England, became an instant favourite in the side that also included his younger brother Brian.

He formed a profitable understanding up front with Stuart Pearson and it was those two players who scored the goals in the 2-1 FA Cup Final victory over Liverpool just a few months after Jimmy's arrival.

Injury dogged the former Leeds and Birmingham striker during his final days at Old Trafford, but nevertheless he is still much revered by the United fans.

Since leaving United, Jimmy has spent two seasons in Toronto and had a short spell with his former Stoke boss Tony Waddington at Crewe last season.

Now Jimmy has returned to the Potteries to play in the Fourth Division again with Port Vale.

Nov. 9, 1972.....

LIVERPOOL'S Larry Lloyd became the first player in soccer history to contest a three-match ban before soccer's new disciplinary tribunal. And he won — the tribunal declaring that his sending off was sufficient.

John Trollope — loyal service rewarded with the manager's job a year ago this week.

Nov. 12, 1976.....

'Hot-seat' reward for Trollope

JOHN Trollope's loyal service with Third Division Swindon was rewarded with the manager's job 12 months ago.

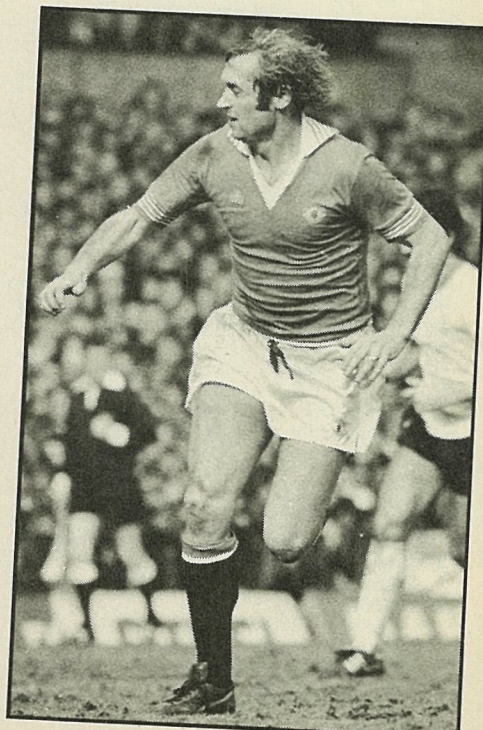

Full-back John's love affair with Swindon began back in 1960 when he made his Football League debut.

During the next twenty years he made 770 League appearances for the Wiltshire club — a record for a one-club man.

In those two decades as a player at the County Ground, he figured in the club's greatest day when they won the League Cup at Wembley with a shock 3-1 victory over mighty Arsenal in 1969.

He retained his registration as a player when taking over as the club's youth coach last season and was forced to come out of temporary retirement to play 14 matches during an injury crisis.

But seven weeks after Bobby Smith had been sacked, John, who had been caretaker-manager, completed the full cycle with the club, going from player to manager.

Jimmy Greenhoff — joined Manchester United five years ago this week.

COUNTY

Barnsley v Brighton

NO CHARITY FOR BRIGHTON

HAVING shot-down the high-riding Swans in the previous round, Barnsley now have their sights firmly fixed on the Seagulls.

With John Toshack's much-heralded Swansea side already buried, the rapidly-progressing Second Division team are confident of applying the same treatment to Brighton in front of their Oakwell faithfuls.

Not even the free-scoring Swansea attack could manage a goal in the first leg in Yorkshire against a side that has only conceded one goal in seven home games.

And, as key midfielder player Ronnie Glavin (above) pointed out: "So long as we have home advantage, we're quite thankful, whoever the opposition."

"There are no easy games at this stage of the competition so getting another First Division side is immaterial.

"We're just happy to be at home because we have been playing particularly well at Oakwell.

"We've let in just one goal yet, ironically, that cost us three points against Cardiff.

"But I wouldn't think Brighton are relishing the thought of playing here in what is now a one-leg affair."

Barnsley will no doubt get the low-down on Brighton from Ray McHale who joined them from the Seasiders in their Third Division promotion drive last season.

"No doubt he'll provide us with some useful information even though the team has been changed quite a bit this season," adds Ronnie, who scored one of the goals at the Vetch Field which took Barnsley into the last 32 with a 4-3 aggregate victory.

"I know that Ray is absolutely delighted with the draw and, like all of us, he's looking forward to the challenge."

CUP competition is all about soccer's minnows having a crack at the big fish and in this special Match Weekly preview we turn the spotlight on some of the Third Round's prospective giantkillers... plus we take a look at the all-First Division clash between West Ham and West Brom.

Dream draw for Fogg

OXFORD defender David Fogg used to watch his boyhood heroes Everton from the terraces at Goodison Park.

And now the Liverpoolian full-back will achieve a life-long ambition of playing on the hallowed turf following the League Cup Third Round draw which pairs the Third Division side with the Merseyside giants.

"I still can't believe it's true. I've always wanted to play at Goodison," said David.

"Obviously we're all delighted with the draw. It's great news for the players and the city. We'll be taking a fair number of fans to Liverpool."

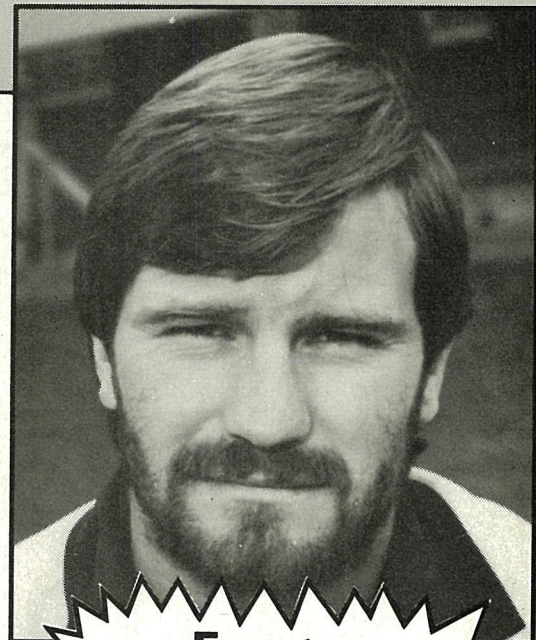

David is also looking forward to battling with an old friend of his — Welsh international Mike Thomas.

"Mike and I played in the same Wrexham side so it will be good to meet up with him again."

But David knows that his team have a mountain to climb if they are to become one of this season's giantkillers and pull off a shock victory at Goodison.

"The most we can hope for is to hit them on the break because there's no doubt that they'll come storming at us."

Francis

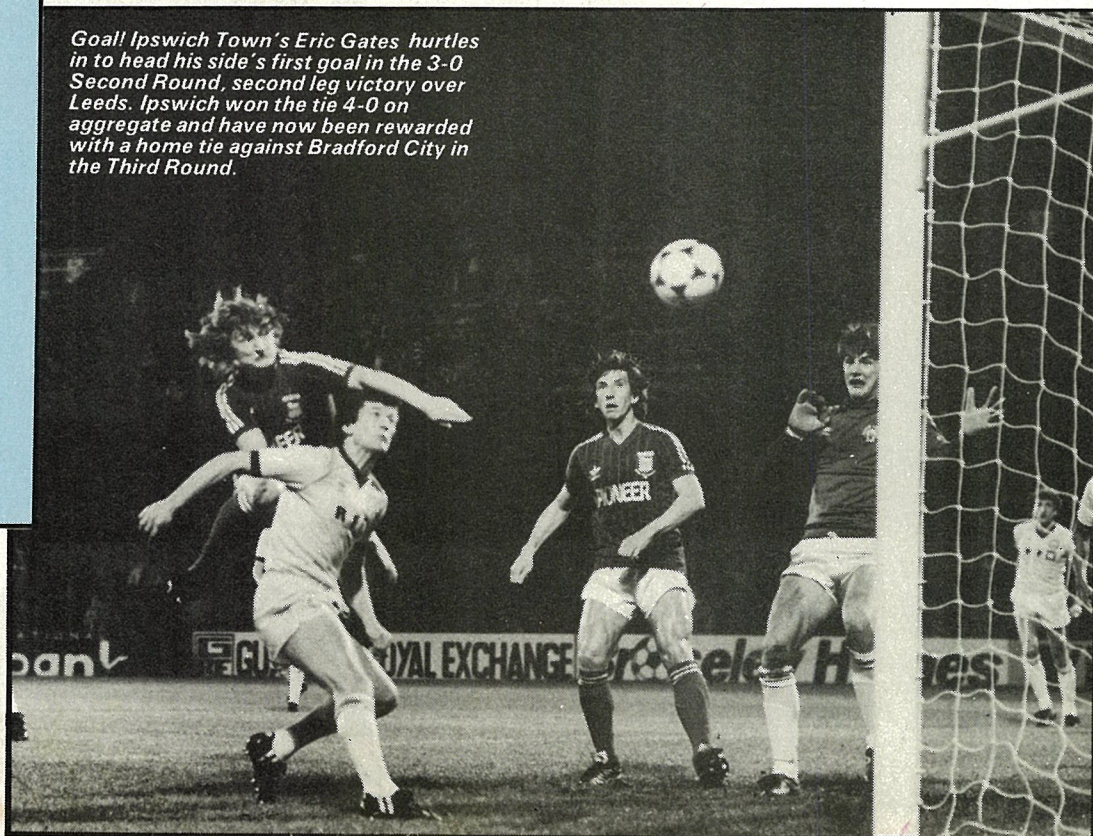

Everton v Oxford

"New manager Howard Kendall has been swift to bring in new players since he joined the club in the close season and it's hard to keep up with the new faces," said David.

"But one player I've always respected is skipper Mike Lyons. He's a great player," added David.

Goal! Ipswich Town's Eric Gates hurtles in to head his side's first goal in the 3-0 Second Round, second leg victory over Leeds. Ipswich won the tie 4-0 on aggregate and have now been rewarded with a home tie against Bradford City in the Third Round.

LEAGUE CUP, THIRD ROUND PREVIEW

are now world's apart

MANCHESTER City's £1 m striker Trevor Francis and Northampton's Steve Phillips live in different worlds.

Trevor is a regular England international and one of the most highly paid players in the game, while midfielder man Steve earns his living at the other end of the Football League ladder.

The pair illustrate clearly the extremes of football for they both started their careers together at Birmingham City.

And the duo, who played together in the First Division, meet up again in very different circumstances in the Third Round of the League Cup when hard-up Northampton travel to the millionaires of Manchester City.

"I'm really looking forward to meeting up with Trevor again. After the game we'll perhaps discuss our financial problems!" joked Steve.

Man City v Northampton

"His accountant's fees for a year would pay my whole mortgage," added the former Brentford star, who's Northampton's most expensive buy at £40,000.

"It's a great draw for us. It's the players chance to get in the spotlight and take a little piece of glory. Most of the lads here have never played out of the Fourth Division.

"All we can do is go up there and enjoy ourselves. I know the players are looking forward to the game," added Steve.

ALBION SEEK REVENGE

WEST Brom goalkeeper Tony Godden still has vivid memories of how his West Ham counterpart Phil Parkes knocked his side out of the FA Cup two seasons ago.

Now, troubled Albion have the chance of revenge with their visit to West Ham in next week's League Cup.

"Phil had a blinder in the 1-1 draw at our place in the Third Round, and denied us getting through," recalls Tony.

"Then in the replay they edged us out 2-1 and went on to win the FA Cup against Arsenal."

West Ham v W.B.A.

West Ham were in the Second Division then and two years on they have improved to the extent of now being hailed as Division One title challengers, so it's a tall order for struggling Albion.

"It's one of the hardest draws we could get at this stage of the competition, but we're having that kind of season where we could spring a surprise.

"Although we are near the bottom of the League, I think we are in a false position because we are too good a side to be down there despite the loss of good players like Bryan Robson, Remi Moses and Peter Barnes.

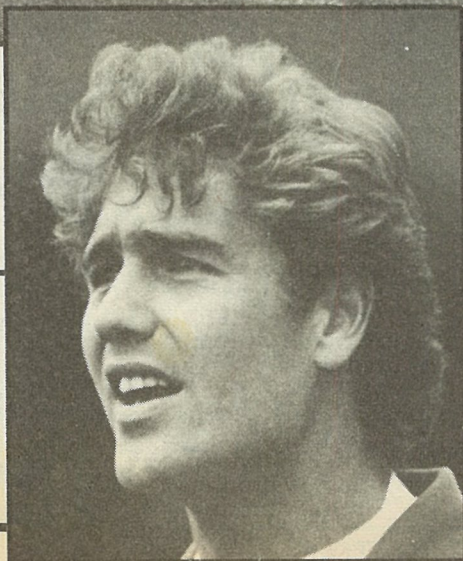

Action from Nottingham Forest's Second Round tussle with Birmingham as Forest striker Ian Wallace is tackled by 'Blues' Pat Van Den Hauwe. Forest went through 5-3 on aggregate and now face Blackburn Rovers away in the Third Round.

Right: West Brom's Tony Godden: "We're having the kind of season where we could spring a surprise."

"We're just short on goals, but the way our season has been going we could go to West Ham and get a result which would boost confidence no end.

"It's going to be important to the club this season to have a couple of good cup runs after such a disappointing start to our League programme.

"So there is no way that people should write us off. We're just as capable as the next team of doing something down there."

Blame the clubs

DON'T blame the players for their excessive wage demands — blame the clubs.

Many people accuse players of being greedy, but the situation is out of hand only because the directors agreed to the current wage structure.

The clubs pay out the £1m plus fees and I don't think it is unreasonable for a player to believe he's worth a fat wage packet if the directors are prepared to splash out that much for him.

Faisal Madani (17), Colchester, Essex.

Liverpool should fend for themselves!

SHOWROOMS — that's all the Middlesbrough's and Stoke City's of this world are to our big clubs.

There's no chance of teams like Boro' enjoying any success because the big boys like Liverpool and Manchester United nip in and steal their best players.

West Brom have found out what it's like to be a poor relation by losing Bryan Robson and Remi Moses to Man. Utd.

Middlesbrough lost Craig Johnston and Mark Proctor as soon as the players proved that they were something special.

It won't be long before the likes of Lee Chapman and Adrian Heath (Stoke), and Sunderland pair Kevin Arnott and Shaun Elliott are gobbled up by the big money sides.

Teams like Liverpool should fend for themselves!

James Maloney, Stockton on Tees, Cleveland.

Right: Stoke star Adrian Heath — the sort of player who's snapped up by the big clubs, says James Maloney of Stockton on Tees.

Golden Goof!

DUNDEE are relying on youth these days... judging by the age of their 'keeper in this press clipping!

It was sent in by Clydebank supporter Peter Avery of Sutton Coldfield, West Midlands.

CORNERS

The pressure from the Glasgow side forced a series of early corners but Scotland's Under 2 international goal-keeper Bobby Geddes was a match for them all.

However, his opponent...

Halt Scottish player drain

ENGLISH clubs are bleeding Scotland dry of their young talent.

I don't think players should be allowed to move south of the border until they reach a specific age.

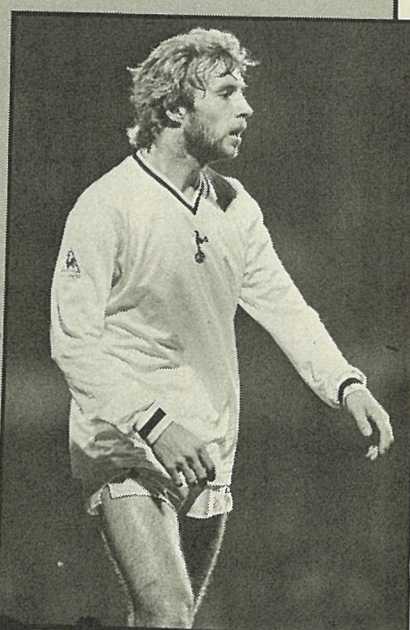

At least then we'd be able to enjoy their skills for a while longer.

My favourite player Ally McCoist left St Johnstone for Sunderland and has joined the likes of Graeme Souness, Kenny Dalglish, Ray Stewart and Steve Archibald.

I'm sure if players weren't allowed to leave until they were 26, Scottish football would attract better crowds.

Craig Mailer (14), Perth.

Right: Scottish international Steve Archibald — he shouldn't have been allowed to leave Aberdeen for Spurs so early in his career.

TERRACE TALK

The fans deserve more

THERE are no simple solutions to the problem of falling attendances. All-seater stadiums and synthetic turf are certainly not the answers.

Three points for a win has shown itself to be an initial success, but it's not the long-term answer.

I believe clubs should develop a better relationship with the fans.

Far too often they neglect the very people who are keeping them afloat. We — the supporters — deserve better.

A. Littlewood, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

WELL DONE JOCK!

£10
WINNER

JOCK Stein has done a tremendous job in leading Scotland to the World Cup finals in Spain.

When he took over as manager from Ally McLeod after the Argentina disaster, Jock had the unenviable task of picking up the pieces and restoring the country's pride.

For a while things didn't go too well. Scotland failed to qualify for the European Championships and then got the wooden spoon when they finished bottom of the Home International Championships in 1979-80.

Critics suggested that Jock had lost the magic that had taken Celtic to the very top. His reply to them was "Judge me on the World Cup results".

Scotland have become the first home country to qualify for the World Cup finals and they did it without losing a game.

While getting the results Jock has built up a strong, settled squad that includes newcomers of the calibre of West Ham's Ray Stewart, and Aberdeen pair Gordon Strachan and Alex McLeish.

This time round the players and fans have a quiet confidence — so different from the euphoria that was partly responsible for Scotland's dismal showing in the last World Cup. Well done Jock! James Cotton (13), Barrhead, Glasgow.

Scotland boss Jock Stein. He's done a great job to steer his country to the World Cup finals.

Robson's wrong!

I AM an Ipswich fan, but Bobby Robson's attitude towards his players really annoys me.

After Ipswich Town's 4-3 defeat at Southampton — their first of the season — he blasted his players in the press.

The same thing happened last season when they lost the local derby against Norwich.

Instead of criticising his team's performance in public, he should find out why they're losing the games and put it right. Perhaps then they will win the Championship.

Leslie Mackie (15), Falkirk, Stirlingshire.

Coppell is so vital to United

DON'T let Steve Coppell leave Manchester United.

That's my plea to manager Ron Atkinson who dropped the England star for the derby game against City to make way for his big money signings.

Steve is still a vital part of the United set up and I believe strikers Garry Birtles and Frank Stapleton need a player of his class on the right flank.

With Steve providing the ammunition I'm sure the twin strikers can score the goals which will make us serious championship challengers this season.

Steve's one of the Old Trafford favourites. He never gives up and always gives 100 per cent.

Anne Jakol, Kingston, Surrey.

WORLD CUP JOKE

Sent off!
£5

I'M outraged because the World Cup finals in Spain are going to be one big joke.

With 24 teams taking part it gives countries like New Zealand, China, Nigeria and Kuwait a chance to play against the likes of West Germany, Brazil and Argentina.

The stronger countries will run up cricket scores and the little countries will be humiliated.

Kenneth Hamilton, Cumbernauld, Glasgow.

● Cup football is all about the minnows having a crack at the big clubs. Alright Kuwait may not beat Brazil, but they have as much right to be there as anyone — including Scotland! You're sent off.

Enfield for the Cup!

I'M outraged at silly people suggesting Arsenal could go down.

Terry Neill and Don Howe are giving other teams a chance at the moment by putting a few reserves in.

I reckon Enfield will win the FA Cup the next time Arsenal get relegated!

T. Adelaja, Forest Gate, London.

● Yes, I fancy Enfield for the Cup this year! Arsenal don't have any choice but to give other teams a chance at the moment. You're booked.

Flukey Spurs!

Manchester City in last season's FA Cup Final seems to have gone to their heads.

Expect to see Spurs back in Division Two next year.

Adrian Brodtkin (12), London.

I'M outraged at all this talk of Spurs returning to their glory days. It's a lot of rot.

It won't be long before they are struggling at the bottom of the table — especially when their so-called South American 'stars' get bogged down by the British winter.

Spurs flukey victory over

● Let results do the talking for a moment. Spurs are up near the top, but where are City? See how you feel when Tottenham have completed the League double over the men from Maine Road this season. Meanwhile you're booked.

Coventry's title!

I'M outraged that you are tipping Ipswich Town for the title.

With Russell Osman and Terry Butcher at the back they'll concede plenty of goals and they won't score many with trash like Paul Mariner and Eric Gates up front.

I'm tipping Coventry for the championship.

Tim Brown, Kenilworth, Warks.

● Your last statement proves you don't know what you are talking about. Enough said. You're booked.

NEXT WEEK: Match readers name the England players they would have picked to face Hungary in the vital World Cup qualifier at Wembley on November 18.

30 MATCH WEEKLY

Bailey's back on top!

MANCHESTER United's Gary Bailey, the First Division's 'top stopper' last season, is back on top again.

The England Under-21 international was beaten only seven times in the first 13 League matches... an average of one goal conceded every 167 minutes.

That's impressive goalkeeping by the youngster who has been hailed as the eventual successor to England pair Peter Shilton and Ray Clemence.

So, while the spotlight has fallen on the expensive arrivals at Old Trafford, Gary, who didn't cost United a penny, has been quietly and efficiently going about his business to make a significant contribution in the success of Ron Atkinson's new-look side.

He leads the way from West Ham's Phil Parkes, the Second Division's safest 'keeper last season, and Brighton's Graham Moseley who has taken full advantage of his recall to the 'Seagulls' side this term.

But the men they all have to catch are in the Fourth Division where Bournemouth's Kenny Allen and Peterborough's recent signing Neil Freeman are averaging 270 minutes between each goal.

In Scotland's Premier Division, Hibernian's Jim McArthur is the new leader with an average of 116 minutes per goal.

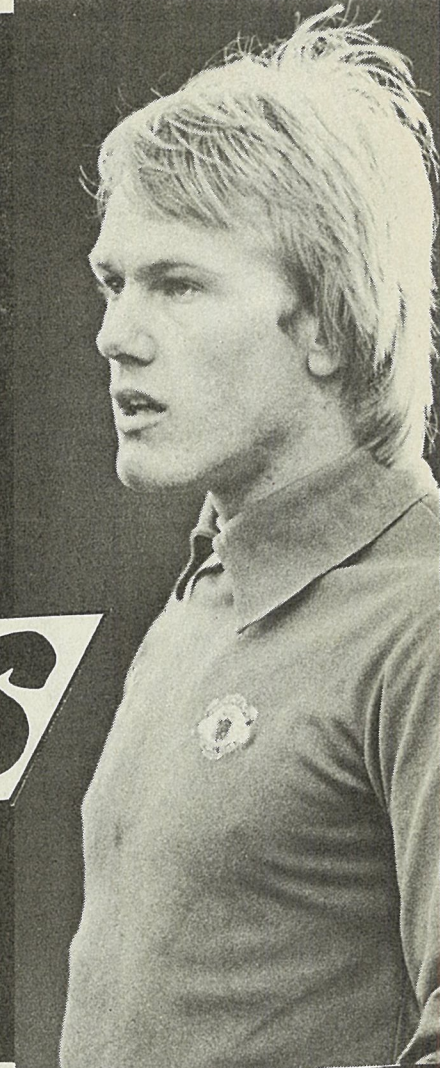

TOP STOPPERS

THE race is on to find Match Weekly's top stopper — the goalkeeper with the safest hands in soccer.

We've compiled exclusive tables — so popular with the fans last season — which show you who has been performing well between the posts in the first two months.

And we'll be updating the tables as the season progresses.

HOW DOES YOUR 'KEEPER RATE?

THE first column after the 'keeper's name in the table below shows the number of games each goalkeeper has played.

The second column shows the number of goals conceded and the third column is the average number of minutes play between each goal.

For instance, Sunderland's Barry Siddall conceded, on average, one goal every 72 minutes during his eight matches.

GLENN HODDLE

SPURS' reputation for ability is backfiring on us at home this season.

Visiting teams are coming to White Hart Lane and locking up the doors.

And that accounts for the fact that we've collected more points away from home.

Take our last home game in the League against Brighton.

We lost 1-0 and it cost us the chance to go top of the League for the first time in over a year.

But it wasn't because we played badly. In fact I felt we played very well.

Brighton had one decent shot at goal and scored. Good luck to them, but they played very defensively — like a lot of visiting teams.

No disrespect to them, but I think if we could have scored an early goal we would have won by Steve Foster (left) in action against Tony Galvin during our last home League game — "He'll probably be Brighton's star player in every away match if they continue to play as defensively as they did against us."

We're getting better all the time!

three or four because it would have meant them coming out and playing.

Ray Clemence hardly had to make a save all afternoon, but the little bit of luck we needed just wasn't there.

Brighton's central defender Steve Foster got rave reviews in the papers next day and there's no doubt he played very well.

But he'll probably be their star man in every away game if they continue to play defensively because he's sure to stand out!

Still, all credit to them for managing to contain us.

We're certainly not worried about our form — home or away. I think we have got progressively better.

I felt we were improving as last season wore on and victory in the FA Cup Final proved that to an extent.

Now we are more organised and playing much better as a team.

Steve Archibald and Garth Crooks up front haven't been firing on all cylinders, as I think they would be first to admit, but a couple of goals would change all that.

It's probably all about confidence with Steve. He's just got to forget about his lean goal spell. Worrying about it won't make things any better.

He had a similar spell about the same time last season and he got really up-tight about it. But he still finished up as leading scorer in the First Division!

I'm sure we can maintain our challenge around the top of the League, but what we must do is let teams worry about us.

If we do have a failing it's probably a lack of belief in ourselves.

Confidence shouldn't have been a problem, however, in our European Cup Winners Cup tie against Dundalk at White Hart Lane this week.

While we only managed to draw 1-1 in the first leg over at their place, only the Spurs fans who travelled over will understand just how difficult it was.

The Dundalk pitch was a disgrace!

It's diabolical to think that any side should be asked to play there.

It was like playing on hard clay and the pitch was full of ruts. The ball was bobbing about all over.

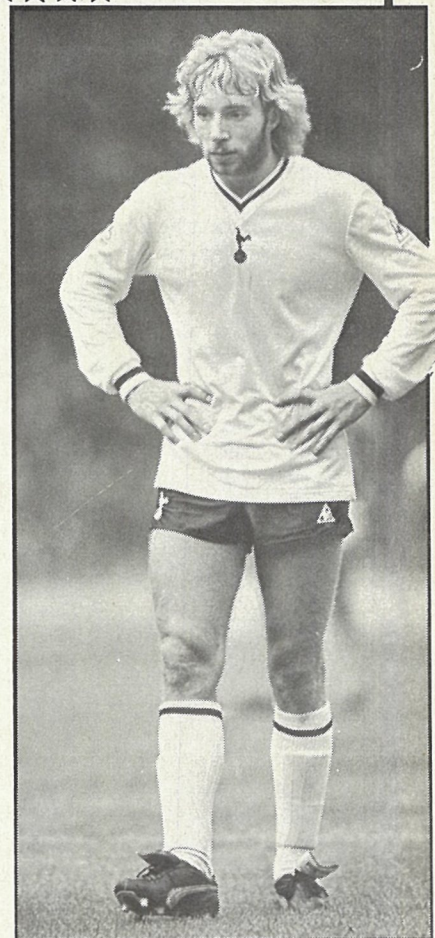

At the end of the day a draw was a good result!

You probably read about the tight security that surrounded us for the trip. We even had a couple of karate experts to keep us company.

Personally, it didn't worry me, although it did cross my mind that if anything was going to happen it would be while we were out on the pitch.

Just time to look ahead to England's big World Cup clash with Hungary at Wembley on November 18.

With no First Division matches on the Saturday before it gives the England squad a lot more time together than usual and about time too!

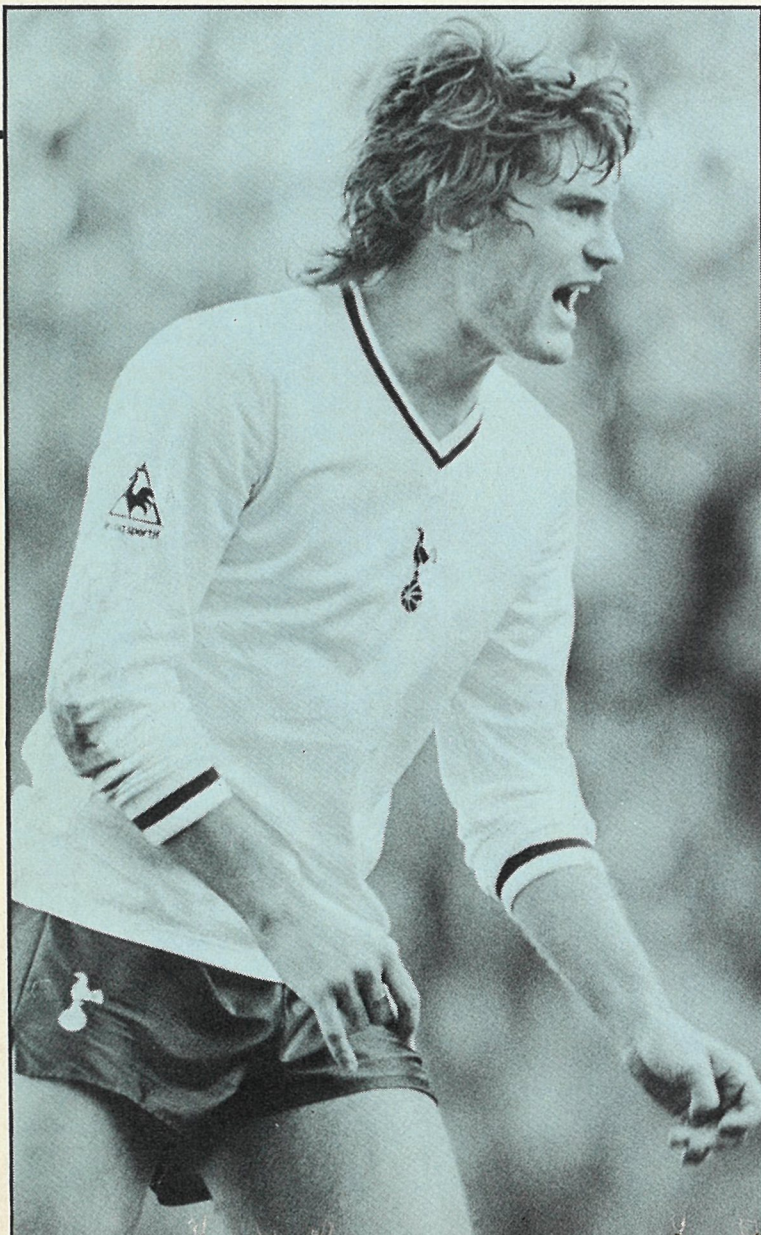

Steve Archibald — "He's got to forget about his lean goal spell because worrying won't make things any better."

It can only help as long as the time is used correctly, which I'm sure it will be.

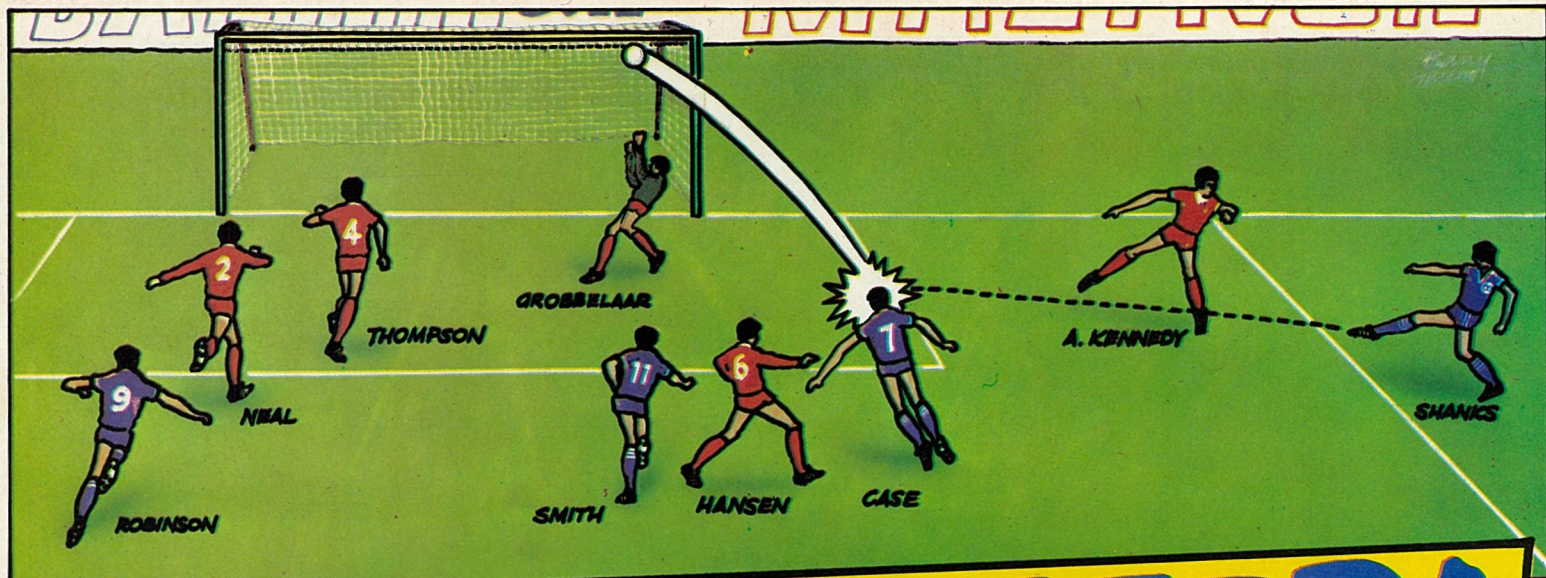

Fingers crossed that by the time my next column appears in Match — in a fortnight's time — England's place in the World Cup finals is secure.

Cheers for now.

CASE CRACKER TAMES HIS OLD TEAM-MATES

Jimmy Case (Brighton) v Liverpool, Division One, Goldstone Ground, Sat., Oct., 17, 1981.

IT was a big wrench for Jimmy Case to leave his beloved Liverpool in the summer to join Brighton — a team attempting to establish themselves as a First Division force.

But the £350,000 midfielder has settled down well on the south coast to play an integral part in Brighton's successful start to the season under new manager Mike Bailey.

And his brilliant headed goal in the clash against his former Anfield team mates underlined just how far Brighton have progressed this season.

With Liverpool seemingly coasting to a 3-1 victory, Jimmy got himself on the end of a Don Shanks-inspired move

GOLDEN GOAL

11 minutes from the end to spark a Brighton revival.

Mike Robinson, Neil McNab and Steve Gattling were all involved in the sweeping move which ended with full-back Shanks overlapping down the right to deliver a perfect cross for the advancing Case to send a block-busting header into the roof of the net.

Within two minutes the roof was raised again at rain-soaked Goldstone when Andy Ritchie snatched a dramatic equaliser.

DANNY Greaves may be the son of one of soccer's goalscoring legends, but he virtually had to beg for a chance to follow in father Jimmy's golden footsteps.

After quitting Tottenham, the club where Jimmy collected goals like other people collect stamps, young Danny wrote to several clubs in the London area seeking a trial.

But only Third Division Southend United were prepared to give 16-year-old Danny a chance . . . and that could now pay rich dividends.

Danny, now 18 and grabbing the national limelight after a goal on his full League debut at Chesterfield, recalls that Sunday trial match at Southend.

"I turned up at the ground and coach Frank Banks didn't know that I was the son of Jimmy Greaves until after I had scored five goals," he says.

"That pleased me because at least I had shown them what I could do without people saying 'well, he's the son of Jimmy Greaves'.

"And that's the way it has been at Southend since I joined the apprentice staff.

"Everyone in the club judges me as Danny Greaves rather than the son of a famous father."

Obviously there are the handicaps in riding the regular jibes of 'you'll never be as good as your father'.

To that, Danny replies with his stock answer: "If I become just half as good as my father I'll play

I'll play for England

. . . if I'm half as good as dad!

for England."

But having such a top marksman as a father also has plenty of benefits.

As Danny explains: "I couldn't wish to have a better teacher in the art of goalscoring than my dad.

"If I miss a chance, then he'll probably comfort me by saying that he also missed a hell of a lot of chances in his time.

"And there are occasions when he might tell me that I ought to have sidefooted the ball that time or took on a defender.

"It's all useful advice when you are young and wanting to get on."

Danny (pictured left) has certainly made an impressive start. His second fleeting appearance as a substitute for Northern Ireland international Derek Spence brought him the match winner against Bristol Rovers.

Then, within six minutes of his full League debut at the home of leaders Chesterfield, he headed the opening goal in Southend's surprise 2-1 win.

Despite all the media attention, Danny's feet are firmly on the floor.

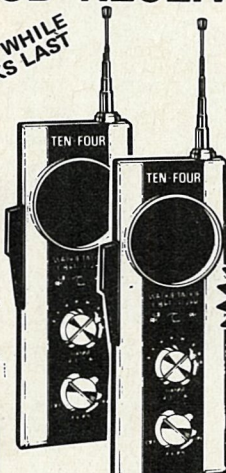

"When Derek gets fully fit again I'll probably find myself back in the reserves," he says.

But his long-term ambitions are pointed in the direction of the First Division where his father made his name.

"It's every kid's ambition to play in the First Division and it would be great to play with Tottenham.

"I trained there twice a week as a schoolboy for two years when my dad was still associated with the club, but there were so many boys there that I felt I wasn't getting the attention my game wanted."

So, unlike his father, Danny is attempting to reach the top from the backwaters of the Third Division.

It may be that clubs like Charlton and Colchester will rue a day they didn't respond to the letter from a certain Danny Greaves.

Debut glory

WHAT a debut for Bournemouth's teenage

After two successive defeats, the youngster was given his chance by manager
Dave Webb and he responded with two goals in the 3-2 home defeat of Fourth Division promotion chasers Bury.

Buchanan the hero

IT WAS a case of lucky 13 for Fourth Division strugglers Northampton.

They achieved their first League win of the season at the 13th attempt at home to Tranmere, but they had to come from being two goals down to do it.

Their hero was recent signing
John Buchanan who scored twice
... his first goals since he rejoined the club from Cardiff last month.

Cook's debut double

JEFF Cook marked his home debut for Third Division strugglers
Plymouth with two goals in the 5-1 crushing of Chester ... the Devon club's first win of the season.

It was his third goal in three matches since joining Bobby Moncur's side from Stoke for £25,000, but it was watched by Plymouth's lowest ever crowd of 2,500.

FOCUS ON THE
NEW LIVERPOOL
NO. 1

MY CHANCE CAME TOO EARLY

I was sorry to see Ray Clemence go, admits Grobbelaar

BRUCE Grobbelaar believes his first team chance at Liverpool came too early.

The shock departure of Ray Clemence, after 14 years at Anfield, gave the Zimbabwe international goalkeeper his debut much sooner than he wanted.

"I would have liked to have played behind Ray in the reserves for longer than I did," admitted the 24-year-old, who signed from Vancouver Whitecaps towards the end of last season.

"Ray's vast experience could have helped me a lot and I was sorry to see him go," added Bruce.

"It was a great shock to me when I heard Ray had joined Spurs. I suppose playing so long for the same old team got to him in the end."

Taking over from England goalkeeper Ray was an awesome task but Bruce has impressed the Liverpool fans with his confidence and coolness.

In spite of that he's far from happy with his form and promises that the best is yet to come.

"I'm not playing as well as I know I can," he says.

"Much of the problem is communication with my defenders. I'm going to have to adapt so that we're on the same wavelength.

"It's a matter of getting into the swing of things and knowing when to tell my defenders to go out or come back."

Bruce's route to the top has spanned three continents and places as far apart as Durban, South Africa, Canada, and Crewe, England.

When he was 15 he looked set to join Brian Clough and Peter Taylor at Derby County, but the deal fell through as his Durban club couldn't agree terms.

The next English Club to take an interest was West Bromwich Albion and Bruce spent five months at The Hawthorns as a 19-year-old.

The only thing that stopped him joining the Midlands club was the fact that he couldn't get a work permit in this country.

"The Government wouldn't give me permission to work here because I had a South African passport."

Bruce changed to a Zimbabwe passport soon afterwards and had no problems getting a work permit when he wanted to join Crewe in the 1979-80 season.

Before he moved to the Fourth Division side Bruce was snapped up by Vancouver Whitecaps manager Tony Waiters and was a member of the squad which won the North American Soccer League in 1979.

But it was his spell in the basement of the Fourth Division which had scouts from top clubs arriving at Crewe's Gresty Road.

"I really loved playing there. It was great experience for me," said Bruce.

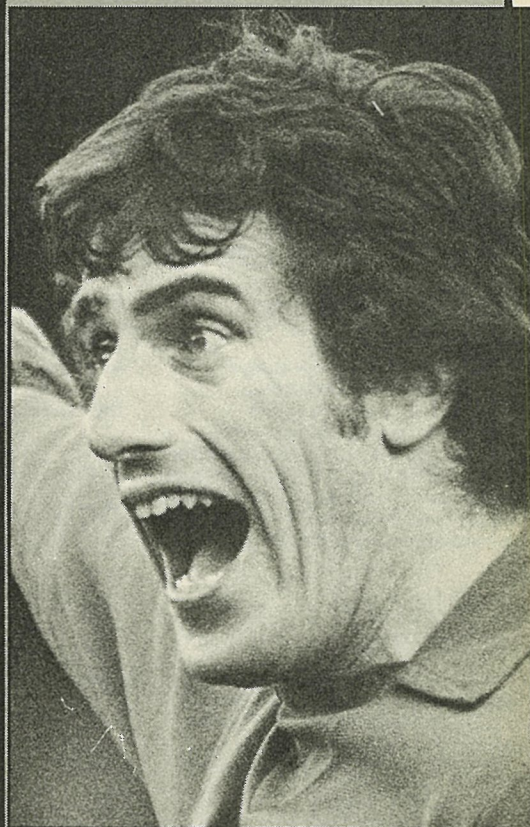

"When I joined the club in December 1980 they were seven points adrift at the bottom of the Fourth Division. We played really well and managed to pull ourselves back into the reckoning even though we finished bottom but one.

"I knew that the scouts were watching because manager Tony Waddington used to come into the dressing room before a game and tell me who was sitting in the stands.

"Any division of the Football League is hard to play in and my spell at Crewe gave me confidence in my own ability."

Bruce even got on the scoresheet for the club — converting from the penalty spot in the last game of the season against York.

He returned to Vancouver last summer and played in the first team all season, but it wasn't long after the end of the campaign that Liverpool boss Bob Paisley came in and signed him for £250,000.

Ray Clemence in action for Spurs — "I would have liked to have played behind him in the reserves for longer than I did," says Bruce.
